

FedRAMP and Federal ZenGRC

What is FedRAMP?

The Federal Risk and Authorization Management Program (FedRAMP) is a U.S. government-wide program that provides a standardized approach to security assessment, authorization, and continuous monitoring for cloud services. Established in 2011, it ensures cloud products and services used by federal agencies meet rigorous security requirements based on NIST standards.

FedRAMP Moderate

FedRAMP Moderate is the most widely adopted security baseline for federal cloud systems. It's designed to protect sensitive but unclassified data through a defined set of security controls. Most federal agencies require this level of security, making it essential for cloud service providers working with the government.

Who is it for?

FedRAMP compliance is essential for:

- Cloud Service Providers (CSPs) offering services to federal agencies
- Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) providers working with federal clients
- Platform and Infrastructure providers serving government needs
- Third-party services integrating with federal cloud environments
- Federal agencies seeking secure cloud solutions

What Does it Mean for You?

Achieving FedRAMP compliance:

- Opens access to the lucrative federal marketplace
- Provides a standardized security framework that reduces duplicate assessments
- Demonstrates your commitment to the highest security standards
- Enables efficient scaling across multiple federal agencies
